

ATC and Pilots Safety Forum

Saturday, August 25
at the TD Center, #1 Exposition Drive, Greenville, SC
Parking and forum Entrance on Eisenhower Drive

Registration begins at 8:00 am
Program 8.30 am until Noon

In recognition and celebration of Aviation Week, the SC Aviation Association, SC Aeronautics Commission and the FAA are hosting an ATC and Pilots Safety Forum on Saturday, August 25th, the last day of Aviation Week. The intent of the forum is to provide a structured exchange among all interested parties.

The planned format is as follows:

8.30 - 10:30 am	Questions for ATC (solicited in advance of the event) Hot issues from the ATC to include pilot airspace and runway deviations at local airports
10:30 – 10:45 am	break
10:45 – Noon	FAA Safety Team (FAASTeam) will be presenting the Topic of the Month. Wings attendance credits will be available.

There is no cost to attend, but registration is required in advance in order to help those hosting the event to plan for proper room set up.

You may register at <https://www.faasafety.gov>

We would appreciate questions being submitted in advance of the event. This will allow for anonymity as well as better organization and a healthy discussion.

Question for the ATC

Question for the FAA

*Your name will not be associated or shared in conjunction with your question.

Please register and/or submit your questions by August 17th.

Thank you in advance for the role that you plan in keeping aviation safe in South Carolina.